FASCIST ARMIES IN WESTERN DESERT FACE ENCIRCLEMENT

OVER 6000 ITALIANS CAPTURED

London Military Circles Declare British Forays In Egypt Are "Highly Successful" But State There Is Nothing Immediately to Confirm Reports That Two of Mussolini's Divisions Have Been Cut Off

REVERSE ADMITTED IN ROME COMMUNIQUE

By The Associated Press
Britain's desert "blitzkrieg" forces—described as striking like Gen. J. E. B. Stuart's Confederate cavalry in the United States Civil War—were reported attacking "pockets of Italian resistance" around Sidi Barrani in the offensive in western Egypt today.

More than 6,000 Italian prisoners have been captured in the 3-day-old battle, the British announced, as well as "quantities of war material."

Apparently 2,000 were taken in the last 24 hours. It was announced yesterday that 4,000 had been seized.

(The British comparison of the Sidi Barrani thrust with General Stuart's technique apparently referred to his celebrated feat of riding clear around the Union Army just before the Seven Days battle in Virginia.)

London military circles declared the British forays were "highly successful," but said there was nothing immediately to confirm reports that two Fascist divisions (24,000 to 30,000 men) have been cut off.

Premier Mussolini's High Command acknowledged Italian reverses amid "fighting of exceptional violence."

The British attack, it said, started at dawn Dec. 9 and the battle was still raging in the Sidi Barrani sector—main base of Fascist Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's 70-mile invasion thrust into western Egypt.

More cheerful news for defeat-darkened Italy was provided, however, by authoritative quarters in Rome with the assertion that Fascist forces were "holding their own."

Dr. Horace L. Carter reported last night the Duchess was responding favorably and that her temperature was normal.

Earlier, however, he advised the Duke to keep the Duchess in the hospital for treatment and observation longer than their projected overnight stay.

The Duke, governor of the British Bahamas, indicated that the Duchess' condition would determine how long the couple's emergency visit to the United States would be extended.

The Windsors' making their first trip to the Duchess' native country since their marriage, originally intended to leave Friday after she had recuperated at the Miami Biltmore hotel.

The Duchess underwent the operation, removal of an infected lower right molar and scraping part of the bone softened by abscess, four hours after her arrival, while Edward remained nearby in the hospital.

Fierce Knife-Wielding Men From Wild Hills of Crete Thrown Into Greek Front Lines

Athens, Dec. 11.—(P)—Fierce knife-wielding men from the wild hills of Crete, surpassed in toughness only by Greece's famous mountain troops, have been thrown into the Greek front line attack against the retreating Italians, it was disclosed today.

At the same time a government spokesman reported "important moves are now in full development," but would give no hint of the new Greek offensive action beyond saying advances were continuing on all fronts.

The British Royal Air Force announced a raid on Valona, Italian supply port in southwestern Albania, in which a ship, a munitions dump and some buildings were said to have been hit despite Italian fighter opposition.

The men from Crete, dark, hardy Mediterraneans, have already engaged the Italians, one dispatch from the front said. Brandishing their long, gleaming knives which they prefer to bayonets in close fighting, they charged the Italians, their strength and ferocity astounding and seemed to terrify the Italians, the dispatch said.

It was also disclosed today that Greek reservists who were living in Turkey when called to the colors are on their way to the front.

Pupils Who Refuse to Salute Flag Suspended

Tamaqua, Pa., Dec. 11.—(P)—F. G. Horner, superintendent of schools, announced today the indefinite suspension of three Tamaqua high school sophomores for refusal to salute and pledge allegiance to the American flag.

The action was the first taken on a resolution passed by the school board last Monday making it compulsory for students to salute the flag daily.

The suspended pupils, all members of a West Penn township Ku Klux Klan, were Beatrice Knepper, 13, her sister, Lathryne, 14, and Paul Jones, 14.

LITTLE HOPE OF PEACE IN NAZI-SWAYED WORLD

Home Secretary Morrison Delivers Speech That Amounts to Reply to Adolf Hitler's Oral Attack on the "Have" Nations

OUTLINES GUARANTEES

London, Dec. 11.—(P)—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, in a speech which amounted to a reply to Adolf Hitler's oral attack yesterday on the "have" nations, envisioned today a cooperative post-war world "guaranteed by an international police air force" in which "never again shall it be possible for a thug with a bomber force to terrorize a continent."

By implication, however, he rejected any hope of peace in a world dominated by Nazi Germany.

Morrison said "many people would be ready to listen" if Germany "could hold out a convincing promise of a Europe enriched by economic unity and pacified by the removal of national rivalries."

Morrison envisioned a post-war world in which "class privilege will be indefensible and intolerable" and monopolies will be revised and adapted to the public good.

"I see no reasonable hope of freedom from horrors of war unless we can prevent them," he said.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P)—Two members of the State Milk Commission viewed with frank skepticism today claims of Pittsburgh milk dealers that they could effect a quick "house-cleaning" of certain practices which farmers have protested.

William F. Daniels, counsel for the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers' Association, told the commission dealers are "doing their utmost now" to eliminate the practice of buying out-of-state milk at prices lower than those set in Pennsylvania.

He also said dealers were trying to "correct" the much-debated consignment system.

FLAT PAY RAISE FOR CHRYSLER EMPLOYEES

Detroit, Dec. 11.—(P)—Approximately 60,000 employees of Chrysler Corp. will share in a pre-Christmas bonus of more than $2,500,000 and receive a flat pay raise of two cents per hour, officials of the corporation and the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.) announced today.

A union spokesman said each of the corporation's employees in the 11 plants where UAW-CIO contracts are in effect will receive a bonus of $40 to be paid before Christmas.

Announcements of distribution of the bonus and the wage increase came after a night of negotiations between union and company representatives.

At the same time a government spokesman reported "important moves are now in full development," but would give no hint of the new Greek offensive action beyond saying advances were continuing on all fronts.

The British Royal Air Force announced a raid on Valona, Italian supply port in southwestern Albania, in which a ship, a munitions dump and some buildings were said to have been hit despite Italian fighter opposition.

Windsors on Miami Shores

No hint of the dental trouble that brought her to the United States for treatment was seen in the smile of the Duchess of Windsor as she and the Duke arrived in Miami from Nassau. They were greeted by Mayor Alexander Orr, Jr., of Miami, at left. In the background is the city's skyline.

Baldness a Blessing Kansas City Man Says

Kansas City, Dec. 11.—(P)—Charles T. Kornbrodt, 80, claims baldness is his greatest blessing.

"It got me to America," he said. "I had lost most of my hair by the time I was 19 years old, at a time all young men of Germany had to sign up for three years in the army."

"I was rejected because I was bald," he said. "A soldier with no hair couldn't stand the work in the sun."

INVASION PORTS ALONG CHANNEL ARE ATTACKED

London, Dec. 11.—(P)—Railway junctions, airbases, a power station and docks in Germany and German-occupied territory were attacked by British bombers last night, the Air Ministry announced today.

The German "invasion" ports along the English channel were also raided, the ministry said, after noting that the weather generally was unfavorable for operations from the air.

Two British planes failed to return from the attacks.

Some German planes, apparently mostly on scouting missions, were reported over England early today and London had a brief pre-dawn alarm—the first in more than 36 hours.

The full of two days and nights, London's longest respite from bombing since early last fall, still was unexplained except by the possibility of bad weather over Nazi air bases on the continent.

Berlin, Dec. 11.—(P)—German air raiders scored hits on a factory between Canterbury and Folkestone in attacks on England last night and also bombed the port area at Efrinton-on-sea, the Nazi High Command reported today.

Great clouds of smoke billowed upward after the attack at Efrinton, a communiqué said.

German long range batteries were said to have been fired on "enemy vessels" in the English Channel, the communiqué said.

WPA Sewing Projects May Be Closed Down

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—(P)—State WPA Administrator Philip Mathews notified 12,000 women in Pennsylvania working on sewing projects they would be "forced off the WPA rolls" not later than January 27, 1941, unless the legislature "takes steps" to sponsor the projects.

Mathews, in a mimeographed letter his office said was distributed to all sewing project workers, said he had been unable to come to agreement with Governor James and the Department of Public Assistance on renewal of the present projects, which expire in January.

PROCLAMATION PUTS CLAMP ON STEEL EXPORTS

Effective December 30, Licenses to Be Required for Shipping Abroad of Ore, Pig Iron, Tin-ferro Alloys and Many Other Items

RESERVATIONS MADE

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—A large variety of iron and steel products went on the list today of materials and manufacturers subject to export restrictions in the interest of defense needs.

A presidential proclamation, issued at the White House last night, directed that effective Dec. 30 licenses would be required for exports of iron ore, pig iron, tin-ferro alloys, and 76 semi-finished or finished steel and iron manufactures.

An accompanying announcement said that licenses would be issued to Britain and western hemisphere nations and for the present, subject to defense demands, "for export to other destinations in quantities approximating usual or previous exports."

Japan, which lacks adequate domestic iron and steel supplies for her military requirements, has been a big importer of most of the materials added to the list. The Japanese also were heavy purchasers of American iron and steel scrap until it was placed under export restrictions a short time ago.

The restrictions now apply to 10 strategic chemicals, 13 metals and ores, 16 basic materials, 32 types of machine tools, 18 explosives, petroleum, petroleum products, high speed aviation gasoline, 29 kinds of instruments, 21 varieties of poison gas, 8 different arms and ammunition, aircraft or parts and plans for aircraft production, tanks and warships.

Purging of All References to Wilhelmina In Schoolbooks Causes Reaction in Holland

Amsterdam, (Via Berlin) Dec. 11.—(P)—The purging of all references to Queen Wilhelmina in Dutch schoolbooks has caused such reaction in Holland that it was necessary today for Dr. J. Van Dam, the new secretary general of education, to broadcast an appeal for calm.

A number of books containing speeches and pictures of the queen and other members of the House of Orange were withdrawn from the schools in a formal campaign to wipe out patriotic propaganda for the exiled ruling family and require that these subjects be handled from a strictly historical point of view.

Dr. Van Dam urged pupils to end political disputes even when there is a serious difference of opinion, and also directed an appeal for calm to students who engaged in protest strikes against the dismissal of Jewish professors, strikes which resulted in the Germans closing the universities of Leyden and Delft and the fixing of an earlier Christmas vacation date for students at Amsterdam University.

New rules issued for the withdrawal or revision of school texts prescribe: No offense to the German Reich, army or people and no propaganda for Marxism, the League of Nations, Queen Wilhelmina or the House of Orange.

The singing of the national anthem "Wilhelmus" is forbidden.

CAMP SITE ACCIDENT IS PROBED

Deaths of Four Civilian Workers, Buried Beneath Shale and Muck in Sewer Line Trench Little More Than 24 Hours After Another on Training Project for Penn'a National Guard Become Subject of Probes

VICTIMS FOLLOWING A DIGGING MACHINE

BULLETIN

Indianapolis Gap, Dec. 11.—(P)—Coroner John D. Beger said today he found "no indication of neglect" in the sewer line trench where four civilian workers met death on the military campment project last night and cancelled an inquest into the tragedy.

Dr. Beger made the statement after inspecting the trench which buried the victims beneath shale and muck when it collapsed. He was accompanied by military authorities and District Attorney Earl A. Brubaker, of Lebanon county.

BY WILLIAM M. BLAIR
Indianapolis Gap, Dec. 11.—(P)—The death of four civilian workers, buried beneath shale and muck in a sewer line trench a little more than 24 hours after another construction accident on a $6,000,000 training project for the Pennsylvania National Guard became the subject today of two official investigations.

The victims were among thousands of workers engaged to rush to completion housing and training facilities on this military reservation where the 28th division will be mobilized in February for a year's training.

PEACE RETURNS TO THE LUMBER INDUSTRY

Seattle, Dec. 11.—(P)—The return of peace to the northwest lumber industry appeared assured today as AFL union members on one of two principal strike fronts voted to accept a compromise agreement on wage and vacation demands.

A few hours after Federal Conciliator Ernest P. Marsh announced a negotiators' agreement last night, the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union at Everett, where seven mills have been closed, voted to accept the proposal.

Marsh said union members at the 12 Tacoma mills which led the strike movement two months ago would vote today.

SUGGESTS OBJECTIVES OF DEFENSE DEFINED

New York, Dec. 11.—(P)—H. W. Prentiss, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said today "industry could do more" for national defense than is being accomplished, if the government would define defense objectives.

Prentiss, also president of Armstrong Cork Co., of Lancaster, Pa., spoke to more than 4,000 delegates to the annual Congress of the American Industry of the Association, opening its three-day convention.

Hunter Loses Life Chasing Deer on Ice

Honesdale, Dec. 11.—(P)—The name of a young hunter who crashed through ice while chasing a deer was added to the list of those killed during Pennsylvania's 1940 deer season.

Frank Mahalsky, 19, left his farm home at Lake Erie a week ago to hunt. His failure to return sent volunteers and police into the Wayne county mountains daily on a search.

Yesterday a searcher noticed the body of a deer protruding from the ice on Lake Wallenpaupack. With help, he cut a hole through the ice and lowered a drag net.

Mahalsky's body was brought up from the bottom, 14 feet down.

FORECASTER WARNS OF NEW COLD WAVE

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P)—A new cold wave, bringing snow or rain, is sweeping in on western Pennsylvania from the southwest, the weather bureau warned today.

Observers added the storm is coming from a direction that "usually means bad weather."

Entertainment By Internationally Famous Mentalist This Evening Starts at Eight

This evening at eight o'clock at the Warren High School Auditorium, one of the greatest entertainments ever seen in Warren will be presented when Dr. Franz J. Polgar, internationally famous mentalist, hypnotist and exponent of psychological phenomena, will appear in a two-hour program for the benefit of the Alias Santa Claus Fund of the Times-Mirror.

The program to be presented tonight is guaranteed to baffle and amaze every person who attends, and the memory feats of Dr. Polgar alone will be enough to well repay those present for the small amount of the admission.

Not only will those present see a great performance, but at the same time they will be helping a worthy cause—helping the Alias Santa Claus Fund provide for those who otherwise might be forgotten at the Christmas season.

This in itself should be incentive for a large crowd to fill the high school auditorium.

You don't stay to see a movie twice unless you liked it exceptionally well the first time. Neither do you read a book over again unless it enthralled you on first reading.

But year after year Dr. Franz J. Polgar has been booked back into the same cities where he has previously performed. And always he plays before packed houses. The public never seems to get enough of him.

That in itself is a testimonial to the man who has been called the "The Wizard of the North."

Cemetery Caretaker Killed Digging Grave

Blanchard, Okla., Dec. 11.—(P)—H. B. Smith, 59-year-old cemetery caretaker, accidentally killed himself with his own pick as he was digging a grave.

As Smith swung the pick it glanced off the side of the grave and pierced the back of his skull. He died instantly.

STATE'S ALIEN REGISTRATION LAW CONTESTED

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—Two protests to Pennsylvania's statute requiring registration of most aliens told the supreme court the act was "discriminating and unreasonable."

Through counsel, Bernard Davidowitz and Vincenzo Travaglini, argued that the act was ill defined and pointed to the clause which exempts from registration those within the state before December 21, 1908, asked:

"Why is an alien who has been here that long and failed to become a citizen entitled to exemption rather than someone who came three days later or three weeks ago?"

The state, appealing from a third circuit court ruling which held the act unconstitutional, declared that the law behind the law "is to have, with the federal government, companion laws to put down fifth column activities."

Deputy Attorney General M. Louise Rutherford and William M. Rial, Pennsylvania liquor commissioner who represented the state as a deputy attorney general in the lower court, appeared for Pennsylvania.

The protestant's counsel was Isidor Ostroff.

The act provides for a $1 registration fee.

ITALY'S WAR CASUALTIES
Rome, Dec. 11.—(P)—Italy's total war casualties numbered 18,824, including dead, wounded and missing, from June 11—the day she entered the war—until Nov. 30, an official announcement said today.

Of this number, the announcement said, 14,978 were Italians, 4,696 native African soldiers and 77 Albanians.

DECISION ON LOANS DEFERRED

Secretary Jones Indicates That Conclusions on Question of Financial Aid to Great Britain Now Await Return to Washington of President; Commitments Are Made to Argentina and Uruguay

WHITE HOUSE TO GET ALL FINANCIAL DATA

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—Secretary Jones indicated today that a decision on the question of financial aid to Great Britain now awaited the return to Washington of President Roosevelt.

Asked at the press conference about whether a loan to Great Britain was imminent, the commerce secretary said the matter would have to go to congress, and the question of asking congressional approval could not be decided at the moment because "the administration is away," the reference being to the current cruise of President Roosevelt in the Caribbean.

Jones was one of the high administration officials who met at the treasury yesterday for a secret report on British financial information brought to this country by Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury.

He declined, however, to discuss the meeting or any part of the Phillips information.

Disposing of recurrent reports that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had authority to lend money to Great Britain without new legislation, Jones, for the first time, said flatly that no loan could be made without congressional approval. The neutrality act, he explained, would prevent it.

Expectations were that the British financial data would go to the White House some time next week shortly after Mr. Roosevelt returns from his cruise in the Caribbean.

Much, if not all, of this material was placed before a special meeting today.

DEMANDS DEATH FOR MISS DRAGO

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P)—Assistant District Attorney Earl Jackson today asked the jurors in the murder trial of Irene Drago to "do your duty as soldiers" and bring in a verdict of first degree murder.

The 19-year-old Duquesne girl is charged with shooting to death her boy friend, Emil Walser, 24, in their Duquesne apartment last August. Walser was shot five times because—the state claimed—he threatened to leave the girl.

Summoning up for the commonwealth and describing Miss Drago as a "scheming" killer, Jackson shouted to the jury:

"If Emil Walser were sitting in her place and Irene Drago were dead, I know what the verdict would be. It would be death in the electric chair."

Defense Attorney A. J. Rosenblee's motion for a mistrial, on grounds that Jackson had made "prejudicial" remarks to the jury, was denied by Judge Michael A. Musmanno although the judge informed the jurors to disregard part of Jackson's statements.

Rosenblee, earlier, in defense arguments, had asked the jury to send Miss Drago "home for Christmas."

of office and delivers his inaugural address.

The inaugural program will begin on Sunday morning with a special religious observance in Washington. It has not been decided whether there will be one citywide gathering or whether each church will be asked to conduct appropriate services.

Formal social events will be held to a minimum. The inaugural ball, a gay and brilliant affair 100 years old, was abandoned in 1937 and will not be revived this time. Instead, there will be a concert Monday evening by noted American musicians.

The peace and freedom existing in the Americas may provide one of the central themes for President Roosevelt's third inauguration.

Officials said today that they were considering inviting all Latin American republics to share in patriotic services on Sunday, Jan. 19, as a prelude to participating in the actual inaugural ceremonies the following noon.

From that stand the next day the President will watch a parade of the country's finest military units and perhaps some civilian marchers after he takes the oath

JAMESTOWN FIRE

Fire at the No. 1 plant of the Jamestown Table Company in Jamestown yesterday morning caused damage estimated at approximately $75,000 by Ralph W. Taylor, president of the firm. Nearly all the large quantity of stock contained in the building was damaged by water and much machinery was also damaged, Taylor said. The fire is said to have started when a stream of highly inflammable shading lacquer leaked from a drum and ran along the floor, where it dropped through a crack and onto a hotplate on the floor below.

ON SERVICE STAFF

Word has been received here that Miss Ella N. Darling has joined the staff of the Social Service Bureau in Williamsport as a junior psychiatric worker. A graduate of Allegheny College in Meadville, Miss Darling completed two years of study in the graduate school of Smith College, Northampton, Mass. and while studying there did field work with the Family Institute of the United Charities of Chicago and the Child Guidance Clinic in Wilkes-Barre. She is the daughter of Dr. Ira A. Darling, former superintendent of the Warren State Hospital and now superintendent at the Torrance State Hospital.

OBITUARY

FRED CLARK

Funeral services in memory of Fred Clark, well known Pleasant township resident, were held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. Harold C. Warren, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery were Richard Evans, W. J. Phillips, G. L. Craft, James A. Clark, C. S. Knapp and Charles DeFrees.

Attending the rites from away were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, Falconer, N. Y.

MRS. ELLEN TITUS

Barnes, Dec. 11—Mrs. Ellen Titus, widow of John Titus, passed away at her home here this morning at 4:55 o'clock, following an illness of several months. She was born April 8, 1861 at Cochran, the daughter of James and Susan Marley. She came to this vicinity shortly after her marriage to Mr. Titus in 1881, his work being in the oil fields. He preceded her in death eleven years ago.

To them were born two children, Mrs. Maud Ford, of Barnes, and Fred J. Titus, who died October 2, 1936. Besides Mrs. Ford, she leaves two grandchildren, Miss Bette Titus, of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Donald MacMartin, of Barnes, also a great-grandson, Teddy MacMartin, of this place, two sisters and three brothers. Mrs. Will Duck, of Kane, Mrs. Lillie Whitten, Jamestown, N. Y.; John P. Marley, Sheffield; J. L. and William Marley, Fresno, Calif.

She was a faithful and consistent member of the Barnes Methodist church and all its auxiliary organizations. She also gave freely of her time and means to any movement for the betterment of the community.

Funeral services will be held from the family home at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Ivan E. Russell. He will be assisted by Rev. Emerson Jones, of Clarendon, and interment will be made in the family plot in the local cemetery.

CHRISTIAN O. SONNE

Word has been received here that Christian O. Sonne, formerly of Warren, passed away last night at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich., where he had lived for many years. He was a brother of the late Peter E. Sonne of Warren, and John P. Sonne, of Jamestown, N. Y. His only immediate survivors are nieces and nephews, including Mrs. T. N. Dunham, of Warren, Fred C. Sonne, Washington, D. C. and Stuart L. Sonne, Kingston, N. Y. There are also a number of others in Bornholm, Denmark where Mr. Sonne was born, and in Copenhagen.

Funeral services will be held in Grand Rapids Thursday evening, after which the body will be shipped to Warren. Removal will be made to the Lutz Funeral Home where services will be held at a time to be announced later.

"The Great McGinty"

Paramount's "The Great McGinty," opening Wednesday and Thursday at the Library Theatre, will reveal the real Akim Tamiroff for the first time on any screen.

In all previous pictures, the celebrated character actor has adorned himself with whiskers, moustache or various putty facial protuberances. For "The Great McGinty," however, Tamiroff reversed the usual procedure. To enact the part of a political boss opposing Brian Donlevy, he had to shave off a moustache.

Clarendon, Dec. 10.—The Women's Benefit Association will hold its regular meeting in the Odd Fellows hall Tuesday evening, December 17, in the form of a Christmas party. Gifts will be exchanged.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Early, from Erie, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Naldo Garber.

The Ladies' Aid of the Evangelical church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Mabel Sharp last Thursday. After a brief business session, plans were completed for the bazaar and bake sale.

Mr. and Mrs. William Benis and daughter, Carol, spent a few days last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowley.

The L. C. Barnes Sunday school class held its Christmas party in the Methodist church parlors last Thursday evening. A delicious dinner was served, after which a brief business meeting was held and gifts exchanged. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Orpha Cunningham, and the program in charge of Miss Ruth Johnson and Miss Janet Sleeman. It consisted, among other things, of a reading by Ruth Johnson, the singing of Christmas carols and music by Norma Joyce and Theodore Reed and Mary Fiscus.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wright, of Sharon, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith.

Gertrude Benson will entertain the Thrifty Club of the Evangelical church at her home Friday with a dinner and Christmas party.

The local churches are busily preparing their Christmas programs. The younger children of the Methodist church will have their program on Sunday morning, December 22, and in the evening of the same day the older members will put on a pageant.

The Missionary Society of the Evangelical church will meet Tuesday afternoon at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rowley, Sparlansburg, are spending a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowley.

THIRD SON DIES FROM BURNS IN FIRE AT CORRY

The death toll from a fire at the farm home of Edward Lindsey, about two and a half miles south of Corry, shortly after midnight yesterday morning, rose to three when another son, Donald Lindsey, 13, succumbed to burns last night.

Two of his brothers, Richard, 15, and Bruce, 5, died in the flames yesterday. Lindsey, his wife, and a fourth son, Harold, 11, were burned, but five daughters got out of the house unscathed.

Explosion of an oil stove in the boys' bedroom on the second floor of the small one and one-half story frame home is believed to have caused the tragedy.

Richard, the oldest of the two boys who lost their lives in the fire, obviously died a hero in a futile attempt to save his younger brother.

It was stated that the father, who heroically had removed several of the children from the burning home, returned and had succeeded in reaching Richard, whom he was carrying to safety when the son heard the cries of his younger brother, broke away from the father and returned to the bedroom, where he is believed to have been suffocated, perishing with the brother.

The home was completely destroyed by the fire.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS

The state department of highways during November awarded contracts for road and bridge improvements to cost approximately $1,885,000. The contracts provided for the improvement of 15.54 miles of highway.

EGG CONTEST

At the end of the seventh week of the Pennsylvania official egg laying contest, the total number of eggs produced was 27,940, from the 1,027 birds, or a production of 55.52 percent. The average number of eggs per bird was 27.21.

CORPORATIONS

Secretary of the Commonwealth S. M. R. O'Hara has announced that 75 domestic corporations began business in November with authorized capitalization of $1,330,350; 33 domestic corporations added $3,576,525 to their authorized capital, and 350 business enterprises in the state were set up under trade names by individuals.

TUBBED TREES

Sale of tubbed or living Christmas trees is not permissible without a certificate issued by the state department of agriculture, Secretary John H. Light warned today. Certification of this stock is necessary in the effort to control plant diseases and destructive insects and applies to all stock whether originating in this state or transported into the state.

CORN BORERS

A great increase in the number of corn borers in infested areas of Pennsylvania was found this fall in surveys by the state department of agriculture. The counties found to be most heavily infested were Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Erie, Montgomery and parts of Centre and Crawford. In several areas of Erie county, between 90 and 97 in each 100 stalks of corn were found to be infested.

MEAT HYGIENE

A total of 47,645 ante and post-mortem examinations of animals were made by the meat hygiene division of the department of agriculture in the state during the month of October, resulting in the condemnation of 87 carcasses. Examinations for sanitation were also made at 883 establishments and eight slaughter houses were found to be defective. There were 3,165,771 pounds of meat and meat products examined, of which 2,000

LOOKING AHEAD ON DEFENSE

The first six months of our defense effort being past, the United States can look back without either complacency or discouragement.

We have laid the foundations of an army; we have begun to gear existing industry to support it; we have started to build a munition industry.

"But," says Willis Thornton, in an editorial written for NEA and the Times-Mirror, "Let no man think that we have made more than a beginning. The real effort is to come. Only about half of the National Guard has been called up for training. Selective service has called up a mere trickle. After the first of the year the real mass army will begin to assemble."

"More and more homes will feel the direct impact of the drive as more and more men are inducted into service—the total will be a million and a half by next midsummer. More and more offices and industrial plants will feel the effect of productive workers withdrawn for the army."

"Ever-increasing demands for materials will uncover shortages. That will mean that some authority must decide, as during the World War, which industry is to get this shipment of steel, that shipment of copper. If there is not enough steel for the war effort, for instance, there are only two solutions: use less steel in normal civilian life, or increase productive facilities. You may not like the thought of increased centralized control, but as shortages appear it will be either that or slow down the program. You know which the people will choose."

"Increasing pressure is going to be applied to both labor and management to put aside personal advantage for the national interest."

"The only possible way to avoid centralized control of both is for both to co-operate in every reasonable way without compulsion."

"Longer working hours may come. Industrial leaders like Sloan or General Motors and Robertson of Westinghouse believe they are not necessary, as long as there is a labor pool of unemployed. But when a mathematical formula of facilities available times men working three eight-hour shifts fails to produce what is needed in five days, then six days must be worked, at least until additional facilities can be provided. It is almost a matter of pure mathematics."

"Prices will be subject to great efforts to keep them from rising in the face of every tendency to rise. Taxes are certain to increase, not only for the wealthy, but for every man, woman and child."

"In short, we have seen only the preliminary beginnings of our defense effort. We have no reason to be discouraged with what has been accomplished. But every man must realize that it is only a beginning. A great defensive force cannot be built with 'business as usual,' nor with 'life as usual,' either."

Just a last reminder about that Dr. Polgar demonstration at the High School this evening—as the world's ranking hypnotist, mental telepathist and exponent of memory feats, he has no peer. The proceeds, above expenses, will go to the Times-Mirror Alias Santa Claus fund. Better treat yourself and family to something new in the way of a thrill.

A host of friends will mourn the fact that the smiling face of Fred J. Greenlund will no longer brighten the lives of those with whom he came in contact. Possessing a pleasing personality he was one of the most popular mail carriers that ever served patrons of the local post office.

Judging of home decoration and lighting will be on the evening of Monday, December 23rd, instead of an earlier date originally named. It has been announced, but that is no reason why those who expect to compete should delay getting the decorations up.

Don't say we failed to warn you in plenty of time—day after tomorrow will be Friday the 13th!

Lot of folks have discovered you get by all the ups and downs of life if you stay on the level!

Speaking of sleep, the rest of your days depends on the rest of your nights!

Less than two weeks now!

COMMITTEE SET UP TO STUDY FLYERS' "OCCUPATIONAL ILLS"

Washington, Dec. 11—A little noticed part of the defense program is being carried on by doctors who have been given the job of finding some way of enabling the human body to stand up under the terrific strains which modern high-speed planes and aerial warfare inflict on airplane pilots.

A health and medical committee has been set up under the defense commission, with army, navy and Public Health Service experts co-operating. This committee studies routine problems connected with learning what sort of person is best fitted to be a pilot, and also is tackling several brand new problems made acute by current war experiences.

One of the most pressing of these is the fact that fighting pilots nowadays are subject to the "bends"—that painful and crippling malady familiar to deep-sea divers, sand-hogs and others who work under high atmospheric pressures.

A modern fighting plane can climb several thousand feet in a minute. The pilot who ascends rapidly from sea level to two or three miles altitude undergoes a sudden change in pressures such as a diver would encounter if he came up from great depths too rapidly.

The army put Capt. Henry Armstrong to work on the problem at Wright Field. The navy called in its expert on deep-sea pressure problems, Lieut. Commander Albert R. Behnke, and Dr. Ben Jones of the Public Health Service.

It's a tough nut to crack. The diver avoids the bends by coming up slowly, giving his system time to adjust itself to the decreasing pressure. An aviator climbing fast to get above an enemy bomber can't wait. Behnke had found that a diver avoids a lot of trouble if oxygen is mixed with his air; but the diver still has to stop halfway up, and "taper off" again, again, the aviator just can't do.

Right now the experts are trying to figure out some sort of pressure suit for the flyer. Trouble with that, so far, is that as the flyer climbs his suit blows up with the internal air pressure. If the fabric doesn't give, the thing gets so rigid the man can't bend his arms or legs. Present problem is to find some way of making a pressure suit with articulated joints—which will probably leave the flyer looking like a man from Mars.

Centrifugal force is another queer problem. The ultra-maneuverable modern plane gives the pilot a bad beating in that respect. Practical effect of application of centrifugal force is to increase a man's weight. A good plane can withstand 14-G, as the experts put it—centrifugal force equivalent to increasing its weight 14 times. The pilot can only stand 6-G. When pressure goes above that—as it can in a sudden turn, abrupt climb, or what-not—the pilot blacks out.

Even when the pressure isn't great enough to make him lose consciousness he's likely to feel tired, so that the effort of moving a hand or a foot is almost too much for him.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920

There has been less building operations in Warren during the past twelve months than any similar period within recollection. This is due to the almost prohibitive price of building materials and the difficulty of obtaining the same. Conditions are still such that there is no prospect of a building boom during the year 1921.

One of the most important transactions that has occurred in the business history of Warren has just been consummated—the reorganization of the Warren Axe and Tool Co. H. J. Famine Stalks Europe In Blitzkrieg's Wake EUROPEANS are going hungry this winter. Famine and disease threaten lives of millions in conquered areas, even in neutral countries. The hungry child, pictured on Yugoslavia's Child Welfare semi-postal, above, typifies the plight of countless young war victims.

Legalization of dog meat for human consumption in Germany indicates even the Nazi conquerors are on short rations. And Germans are expected to fare better than others on the continent since they can commandeer food stores from invaded areas.

During the World War, starving Germans invented numerous food substitutes, but it is unlikely that they will resort to such extremes at this time. Elephant steak was a delicacy in Dresden and Leipzig in 1917. Grass became an important vegetable. Crows and sparrows brought high prices.

Bread was made from one part grain, two parts sawdust; chalk was added to flour; glue was used in making pudding. A coffee substitute contained fruit seeds, turf, nutshells—no trace of coffee.

ABOUT COVENTRY

One of the cities hardest hit by German raids on Britain has been Coventry, which suffered intensive raids in mid-November. Here are five queries about that city; how many can you answer?

1. Is Coventry in the north, middle or south of England? Can you name the country in which it is located?
2. What is Coventry's strategic importance?
3. A statue of Peeping Tom stood through the intensive German raids. At whom did Tom peep?
4. Approximately how large a city is Coventry?
5. What does the expression, "to be sent to Coventry," mean?

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This is a belated election item. Its hero is Arthur Lake, who still is paying off around the CBS studios. It wasn't that the star of the Blondie series picked the wrong candidate. It was worse than that. "Till let you," cried Lake, "that seven days after the election the banks will be closed and the streets will echo with the tramp of marching men." They tell me his friends mobbed each other trying to get close enough to get it on the line. The gag was a good one—except that Lake's figures were off. Armistice Day was only SIX days after election. . . .

ADD actresses who wed newspapermen: Nancy Noland, Erin O'Brien Moore, Gertrude Flynn, Esther Ralston and Gladys. . . . Miss Noland is married to Sterling Noel of the N. Y. Journal; Miss O'Brien Moore is the wife of Mark Barron, AP drama editor; Gertrude Flynn in private is Mrs. Asa Borgeas, whose husband is a World-Telegram feature writer; Esther Ralston is married to Ted Lloyd, Radio Daily columnist; Gladys Glad, ex-Follies beauty, is the wife of Mark Helinger, newspaper writer and motion picture producer. . . .

IN OUR recent summary of outstanding performers, authors and composers, we named Bill Stern as our favorite sports announcer. Bill, it seems, figured in a wee bit of by-play the other day that had his honest face asweet for a few moments.

That put Bill down for a nine count, but coming back off the floor he grabbed a typewriter and was frantically trying to manufacture a new script when Crowley, the great big old practical joker, led a guffawing Joe E. Brown through the door.

FLAINE BASSETT, the willowy model, has a new tag. . . . James Montgomery Flagg, the illustrator, calls her "the long-stemmed American beauty."

A little tavern scene the other night disclosed Jack Dempsey and the Hartmans dining on lobster coccolatore. . . . Digging in savagely, Dempsey remarked, "This reminds me of Tummy."

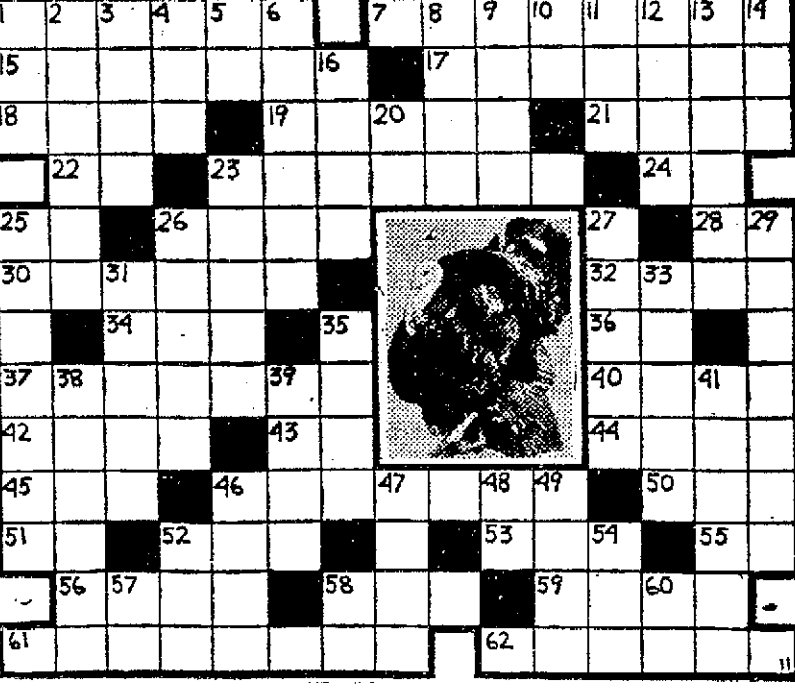

As Jane Frohman puts it, "A gossip talks about others. . . . A bore talks about himself. . . . A good conversationalist talks to you about yourself."

IN OUR recent summary of outstanding performers, authors and composers, we named Bill Stern as our favorite sports announcer. Bill, it seems, figured in a wee bit of by-play the other day that had his honest face asweet for a few moments.

McKenney On Bridge

TIMING SAVES SLAM; ONE MISPLAY WILL DEFEAT CONTRACT

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

From Indianapolis we drove to Columbus, O., and I had the pleasure of playing with Dr. Louis Mark in a duplicate game conducted by W. A. Klunk, who manages the East End Duplicate Club in Columbus.

The American Contract Bridge League has a splendid unit in Columbus, and their committee wanted to know if the League would consider an invitation from Columbus for the 1941 National Championships Tournament. After seeing the great interest in duplicate bridge played there, I was pleased to accept their invitation for presentation to the League's executive committee.

Dr. Mark has been a member of the board of governors of the league for a number of years. I have played against him on numerous occasions, but this was my first opportunity to play with him as partner, and I was gratified when we won top score. One of the hands that helped us win was this interesting slam contract.

ate bridge among the various clubs in Columbus and the caliber of bridge played there, I was pleased to accept their invitation for presentation to the League's executive committee.

Dr. Mark has been a member of the board of governors of the league for a number of years. I have played against him on numerous occasions, but this was my first opportunity to play with him as partner, and I was gratified when we won top score. One of the hands that helped us win was this interesting slam contract.

The doctor handled it in splendid shape in order to make the difficult contact I had put him into.

He won the opening lead with the heart ace, cashed the two top clubs, then led a diamond to cash dummy's top. On the second diamond South let go his small club. Now a trump was led from dummy and West made a good play by holding off. Seeing this danger, the doctor led the jack of clubs from dummy which East was forced to ruff South over-ruffed and led a second trump, dropping the last two adverse trumps together.

Note that the contract could have been lost, had Dr. Mark led a second trump after holding the first round. West would win and lead a heart, knocking out the third trump in dummy and killing the club suit, as East would still have one trump. No could declarer save his small club after dumping East's queen, since then East would get club ruff when West got in with the ace of trump.

Borough Teachers' Group Has Holiday Dinner and Program
A candlelight Christmas dinner was enjoyed last evening in the Y. W. C. A. activities building by the Warren Borough Teachers' Association. Decorations were beautifully carried out in green and gold, with centerpieces of pine boughs embedded in scrolls and Christmas balls, green candles in gold holders and green and gold reindeer place cards with bells.
During dinner, music was provided by a trio composed of James Shortt, violin; Joyce Barnes, cello; and Margaret Blick, piano. At intervals, carols were led by Miss Ida McKinney, with Miss Alice Anderson at the piano. Carlton Kurz, president, announced the program numbers.
Brief talks on their most impressive Christmas memory were given by Miss Phoebe Finley, Miss Margaret Corbin, Herbert Harris and John Rossman.
Miss Anna Louise Kahl then presented a group of High School Dramatic Club members in a play, "Christopher's Candle," with the following in the cast: Joe Lawson, Richard Rapp, Joe Summerhill, Patty Knapp, Jim Harding, Betty Richard, Jane Sherwood, Patty Hand, Virginia Davis and Betty Edinger. The play was especially well done by the young people and thoroughly enjoyed by the group.
Then, to the jingling of bells Santa Claus arrived to explain that because of war conditions, he did not have gifts for all but did have a few for the following persons, presented with original verses: Mr. Rossman, Miss Christine Hurd, Miss Grace Bell, Miss Beba Cole, Mrs. Gerda Lawrence, Miss Mae Moran, Miss Ellen Thoreson, Miss Katherine Hutchinson, Miss Emma Valentine, and James E. Springer.
The general social committee in charge of the dinner and program was composed of Miss Emma Gerhart, chairman; Miss Cecelia Burch, and Miss Guinevere Knapp. Decorations were planned by Miss Evelyn Lehart, chairman; Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Bernetha Strickler, Miss Anabel Day, Mrs. Leslie Fobes, Herbert Nichols and Leonard Nason.
The group's sincere appreciation was expressed to Miss Kahl and her pupils, to Mr. Springer for the Christmas tree, to Miss McKinney and Miss Anderson for impersonating good St. Nick and to the Y. W. C. A. for its consideration and helpfulness.

Golden Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson, widely-known residents of Thompson Hill, were honored with a family party and an "open house" at their home to mark their 50th wedding anniversary, December 8.

Christmas Program For R. D. Members
The R. D. Division of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met in Dunham parlors of the First Methodist church and enjoyed the following program:
Call to Worship hymn, played by Mrs. Paul Yagge; devotions, Mrs. C. C. Winans; group singing, of carols; business meeting in charge of Mrs. H. L. Norris, who also read a timely Christmas message; placing of gifts under the Christmas tree for the Ruth M. Smith Children's Home; review of chapter three of the study book, "Investing Our Heritage in Social Evangelism," Miss Cecelia Burch; Christmas story, Mrs. N. P. Wendelboe.
With attractive decorations suitable to the season, refreshments were served by Miss Elizabeth Reed and her committee: Mrs. N. J. Anderson, Mrs. N. D. Paterson, Mrs. E. G. Flohr, Mrs. C. W. Ross, Mrs. Donald Finley, Mrs. N. P. Wendelboe and Miss Gladys Knowlton.

Social Events
COLLEGE CLUB CHRISTMAS DINNER
College Club members are reminded that they must make their Christmas dinner party reservations not later than tomorrow noon with the hostess, Miss Katherine Hutchison.
The dinner, to be held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, will be followed by a Christmas play, "They'll Never Look There," directed by Kathryn Martin.
The play to be presented, written by Jean Lee Latham, will have the following cast: Father, Lloyd Albaugh; Mother, Ann Check; Junior, Ted Ryberg; Sally, Betty Leafstrom; Betty, Vera Bailey; Bobbie, Delbert Dalrymple. Properties are in charge of Dean Kifer and Bruce Gleason. In addition, there will be group singing of special Christmas selections.
"Children in Other Lands at Christmas Time" will be given as short talks by Miss Anabel Day for France, Miss Bernetha Strickler for Germany and Mrs. Mabel Swanson for Porto Rico.

SHEPHERD SOCIETY COMMUNION BREAKFAST
St. Anthony's Sodality at Jefferson held a communion breakfast following the 8:30 o'clock mass Sunday, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The Blessed Virgin's altar was beautifully decorated with pink and white pompons and many lighted candles.
The principal speaker for the breakfast was Mrs. C. A. Fitzgerald, who complimented the girls upon their achievements. Mary Richwalsky, president of the Bradford Union, also spoke. Besides these, the following were honored: Mary Pat O'Connor, Frances Gronick, Margaret Getz, Irene Habzda, Anna Lassik and Irene Korchak.

BROWNIE TROOPS AT ANNUAL PARTY
Brownie troops 40 and 41, of Home street school, enjoyed their annual Christmas party at the school yesterday with sixty in attendance. Children participating in the Christmas play were Elaine Stone, Emma Moore, Nancy Poche, Phyllis Armstrong, Ruth Bengtson and Beverly Claypool.
Sixteen Brownies were initiated. Christmas carols were sung and Carol Poche whistled "Away in a Manger." Mrs. Althea Correll gave an interesting talk on Brownies. The program and leaders were introduced by Mrs. R. McCain. Refreshments were served by the following members of the troop committee: Mrs. Warren Stone, Mrs. Elmer Lundahl, Mrs. Russell Budd, Mrs. William Hibner, Mrs. Robert Carlson and Mrs. R. McCain.
CLARENDON PASTOR TO WED COUPLE
Rev. Emerson Jones, pastor of the Clarendon Methodist church, will read the Christmas Day marriage ceremony which unites Miss Mary Louise Nelson and Carl N. Swanson, both of Jamestown, N. Y. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Nelson, 1117 Prendergast avenue, at 1:30 o'clock, with the immediate families invited.
Rev. Jones, former pastor at Jamestown and Bemus Point and an old friend of the family, officiated at the weddings of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and their two older daughters.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS
By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—We'll take an hour's cruise today on the good ship Ghost, out of San Francisco in the year 1900. We'll see strange sights, and hear strange things, and we won't get anywhere.
Hope you're not seasick, because the boat is rolling—even though the water is calm.
The water below doesn't make any difference, because the boat is on rollers Water "on the walls" doesn't make a difference, either, because it's just an effect—and so natural you could dive in and almost feel the wetness. "The Sea Wolf" is already an improvement in this respect over "The Sea Hawk," picture which first used the new cellophane "horizon."
You're not really crazy. That fellow in hipboots walking in the snow below is just sweeping the waves. He's scooping up cigarette butts, bottle tops, and assorted flotsam from the waves. And that fellow at the Ghost's wheel isn't crazy either. Sure, he's not sailing the Ghost anywhere, but he's doing "his individual business," as Director (Skipper) Michael Curtiz has instructed everybody to do.
Like the gent in the vest, with the natty Van Dyke, who steps out from time to time and sprays oil on Robinson's face and Knox's face, to make 'em look sweaty. "Make-up," they call him.
Like the fellow who takes a hose and sprays a fine stream over the ship—because a ship ought to be wet, shouldn't it?
Like John Garfield, who shows up with a mild beard and has to go back for a half-shave because the stubble is too stubbly for the time lapse since he last appeared.
And then there's Skipper Mike, who's responsible for the synchronization of all these technical efforts. Mike is always pulling Curtizisms—like "When he calls you a thief, you BLUR up."
Mike, after several takes have blurred up, calls for another. "Better we do it now than at the preview," he says sagely, which is no Curtizism but serene wisdom.

When Colds Choke You All Up, Cause Coughing
Are coughing spasms keeping you awake at night and making you feel miserable all day? Is your head so filled up that it feels ready to burst? If you have that kind of a cold—if anyone in your family has one—THEN HERE IS WELCOME NEWS! Right at home you can easily prepare a simple, direct treatment that helps relieve such discomforts. All you need do is boil some water. Pour it into a bowl while it's steaming. Add a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub. Then breathe in the steaming medicinal vapors. With every breath VapoRub's relieving medication is carried deep into the breathing passages of the nose, throat and chest. It soothes irritation, causes local congestion in the upper bronchial tubes, helps clear head and throat, quieting coughing.
When you enjoy the results of this medicated vapor treatment you will understand why Vicks VapoRub is used this way in so many homes. Added relief... Rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime—to get the benefit of its soothing medicated vapors and its comforting poultice action while you sleep.

CENTRAL UNION
It was announced today that because of conditions which have arisen, the annual Christmas party and program of the Central W. C. T. U., to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Girl Reserve room of the Y. W. C. A., will start promptly at one o'clock instead of at two o'clock as previously announced.

MURRAY STAYS WITH SWOC
Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P.)—Philip Murray says he plans to retain the chairmanship of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee in addition to his recently won presidency of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. He also reported "very satisfactory" progress in his announced intensive organization drive at plants of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Ford Motor Company. Murray said there were "no conversations of any kind" under way regarding possible peace between his union and the AFL.

GIRLS' CLUB IS PLANNING CAROLING

Miss Jo Mackay has been appointed chairman of a committee to confer with a similar committee from the H-Y Club regarding the annual caroling done by the two groups during the holiday season. Miss Patty Knapp presided at the regular meeting of the Girls' Club Monday evening in the activities building, when it was decided to provide for several needy families at Christmas-time. The girls were also reminded of the interest groups next Monday evening.

H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, was presented by the chairman, Miss Betty Dobson, and showed very entertaining colored black and white movies taken on a trip to Florida; also scenes of the last Memorial Day parade in Warren.

HOSTESS TO CLUB

Miss Elaine Johnson entertained her club at her home, Second avenue, last evening, with prizes for five hundred awarded to the following: Lucille Keller for high and Mrs. Justin Shedy for low. Gifts were exchanged and the hostesses served a two course luncheon to the following:

Mrs. Wilson Smith, Mrs. Preston Hoskin, Mrs. Milton Munn, Mrs. Justin Shedy, Miss Lucille Keller, Miss Pauline Hills. The next meeting of the group will be held with Mrs. Shedy.

MARCONI CLUB DUPLICATE GAME

The weekly duplicate game at the Marconi Club was unusually successful Tuesday evening, with eleven tables in play. High pair for the evening were Mrs. Florence Dennison and M. A. Kornreich, with D. A. Sealise and Tony C. Sealise in second place; Mrs. Grace Lott and Mrs. F. M. Caughey, third.

Next week's game and those of the future will be held on Monday night. It was announced today by the tourney director, D. A. Sealise.

COMMITTEES PLAN FOR JUNIOR PARTY

Committees of the high school junior class have begun work in preparation for the junior class party to be held in the spring. It has been decided that the supper will be arranged in tureen fashion instead of having each student pay an admission price. Every junior will be invited to attend and share in a good time.

TRUTH SEEKERS OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The Truth Seekers of the First Presbyterian church will hold their annual Christmas meeting Thursday evening of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kitchen, 313 East street. The social part of the evening will include the same program as last year. Members are reminded to bring their gifts and their Christmas offering.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Salem Evangelical church will hold a business meeting and election of officers tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dase, Dartmouth street. All members are asked to be present.

SODALITY MEETING

There will be a short business meeting of the Holy Redeemer Junior Sodality at seven o'clock this evening. Following the meeting, members have planned roller skating at the new rink and all members are asked to be present.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Banghart, Conewango avenue, with Mrs. W. F. Messner and Paul Messner, Second avenue, entertained members of the Shakespeare Club last evening at the Woman's Club.

BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. A. Schellhammer, Fifth avenue, was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge Club at the Woman's Club yesterday.

PLAYERS' CLUB STUDIO MEETING

Miss Marion Schwab will direct the play at tonight's studio meeting of the Warren Players Club, starting at 8:30 o'clock in the Woman's Club auditorium. A short meeting of active members will be held immediately after the play. In the cast for play, "Yes and No" by Kenneth Home will be the following: Mrs. Weber, Miss Schwab; Rev. Richard Jarow, Gerald McGee; Emma Jarow, Adelaide Crouse; Sally Jarow, Patsy McClure; Joanna Jarow, Betty Ridsperger; Rev. Mr. Bargnot, Robert Whitehill; Adrian Marsh, Roger Webster.

IN NEW YORK

Mrs. J. L. Connelly, 7 West Fifth avenue, is reported registered at the American Woman's Club while in New York City.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

Sigma Tau Delta members will meet this evening at the home of Miss Louise Eaton, 11 Carver street, and all present and alumni members are asked to be present.

COLE HILL

The Columbus fire department answered a call to the scene but could do nothing to save the structure, which was a mass of flames when they reached the farm.

Norton Eastman of Irvine was here hunting for deer Saturday.

Mrs. Veve Camp Seaton and son Frank Burt of Sharpville were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holmes at Torpedo, Saturday.

Mrs. E. G. Holden of Holden Hill who underwent an operation at the Warren General Hospital recently is recovering nicely at her home.

Her daughter, Mrs. Isabell Bolton of Union City is still with her. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eastman and daughter Helen of this place and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benedict of Ross Hill were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Bernal Holmes at the Warren General Hospital.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY: Although Sally has known all along that the person who murdered Aunt Maggie might be any of the guests at the houseparty she and Bill, her husband, are giving, she is wholly unprepared for the information that Lieutenant Gregory gives her now. The Lieutenant thinks Bill is guilty, and bases his opinion on a quarrel Andrew, the butler, says he heard between Aunt Maggie and Bill a few minutes before she was found dead.

Chapter 30 Andrew Talks

"WHAT?" I asked weakly. "I cannot believe it. Andrew is mistaken."

"I am afraid not," said the officer dryly. The butler turned to Roberts. "What was it Andrew says he overheard Mrs. Ambler say to Mr. Stuart?"

Roberts flipped the pages of his notebook, cleared his throat, moistened his lips and read: "Don't you dare lay hands on me, Willie."

"But it is impossible!" I cried. "And yet someone did lay hands on Mrs. Ambler." I was reminded inexorably. "It was the natural thing for her to say under the circumstances. And there was no one else known to be on the premises whom she would have addressed by that name."

"I don't care," I argued. "It's all wrong. Bill wouldn't do such a thing. Mr. Dodson, you said you had a glimmer. Surely you know better than this."

"We must not interfere with Lieutenant Gregory's investigation," he told me. "There are still others to be questioned, you know. When he has finished, we will see what we can do." "But Andrew could so easily be mistaken," I insisted. "After all, he admits that he was not paying much attention. There are other words, other names, that sound like Willie. It was just an association of ideas in his mind. Aunt Maggie was one of the few people who call Bill by that name. Andrew, of course, knows this as well as anyone, and if she said anything sounding at all like Willie he would naturally jump to the conclusion that that was what she meant."

"You are just wasting your breath, my dear," said Bill. "I've been over it all with Lieutenant Gregory. I've tried to convince him that I had no reason to kill Aunt Maggie and no desire to, or to kill anyone." "But you are going to have to try to prove that to a jury, Mr. Stuart," said Lieutenant Gregory. "And in view of these new developments, Mrs. Stuart, wouldn't you like to amend your own story? Are you sure that you gave a correct statement of the facts when you said that you saw no one else in the passage when you stepped out there shortly after the murder?"

"Sally, you don't have to answer that question," cautioned Mr. Marshall.

"But, of course, I will answer it," I said. "I did not see anyone." "All this is very unnecessary," Mr. Marshall told Lieutenant Gregory. "Assuming that Mr. Stuart is guilty, which I do not, I suppose you are aware that, according to law, a wife is not compelled to testify against her husband."

"But I'm telling the truth," I repeated. "Mr. Dodson, you believe me, don't you?" "Yes, Mrs. Stuart," he said simply. "I do believe you." "Thank you," I choked, suddenly very near to tears. Bill squeezed my hand hard and for a moment no one spoke. The silence was so heavy you could feel it. Or rather you could feel all sorts of vibrations in it—vibrations that met and clashed there in that quiet room as definitely as words that are said or words that are crossed.

Andrew Again

I looked around the circle of intent faces. Roberts fidgeting with his notebook and so obviously resentful of what he considered special privilege. Lieutenant Gregory, still hard-bitten, unremittent in his vigilance lest he be taken in by a too-plausible story. Mr. Marshall, his features etched in line of deep distress, his eyes full of incredulity that two people he had known since their childhood could have become involved in such an unthinkable predicament. Bill, still puzzled and impatient, but wearing a fighting look as well. Only Coroner Dodson's countenance, with the unseeing eyes, was serene.

He said now, and his voice was like oil poured on troubled waters. "Lieutenant, may I beg an indulgence?" he asked. "I was not present when the butler was interviewed. Would it not be reasonable for him to refuse? But he said finally, looking at his wrist watch, 'I have no objection to your questioning the witness, provided you will be brief.'"

There were tears on Andrew's black cheeks when he was brought in, and at sight of them I almost broke down myself. "Oh, Miss Sally Mr. Bill," he cried, "Go! Go! You could've driven me over red-hot coals of fire and I wouldn't've told, but they just scared it out of me."

"Never mind, Andrew," I said. "And from Bill. 'We know you only told what you believed to be the truth, but how the hell could you have thought it?'"

"Yes, sir. Yes, sir, Mr. Bill. That's right. But I shouldn't want to."

"Suppose," said Coroner Dodson, in his pleasant, deep voice, "you tell us exactly what did happen, Andrew?" "Check this testimony," said Lieutenant Gregory to Roberts. Andrew looking appealingly first at me, then at Bill. "Well, sir," he began, "I was in the breakfast room after dinner last night. I don't want to be put up some linen we brought out from town what belong in that room. We been so busy I forgot all about it. Then I see it in the kitchen after dinner and I say to Bessie, 'Law, Bessie, if Miss Sally see this, she'll git after me, she.'"

"All right, Andrew," Lieutenant Gregory prompted. "You can skip that. Just tell us what you heard."

"Yes, sir. Yes, sir, out I just want to show how come I was in that room. I wasn't tryin' to hear no white folks' business. At first I didn't pay no attention to talkin' outside the door. Naturally they is passin' and passin'. Then I notice Miss Maggie's voice and it seem to me she sound worried about somethin'. She talk louder, but I still don't hear what she say. I hear a man, too."

Bill, whose eyes had been fixed on Andrew ever since his recital began, now asked, "How can you be so sure she said 'Willie, Andrew?'"

"Cause, Mr. Bill, she say it loud'n she done say anything else. Like she plum scared."

"Did you hear anything else, Andrew?" Mr. Dodson asked.

"No, sir. I sell out and get away from there. I know when white folks fight, it ain't no place for me."

"What did you do afterward, Andrew?" Did you tell anybody about this?"

"No, sir. When I go back to the kitchen, Miss Sally in there talkin' to Bessie 'bout what we goin' to have for breakfast next mornin'. Bimeby, Miss Sally go on out through the breakfast room and find Miss Maggie dead on the floor. She call Bessie to come there quick 'cause Miss Maggie fainted. We bring along a pitcher of water, but we ain't able to revive her. She done dead. Then I know I must not say nothin' to Bessie never. 'Cause women can't keep no secrets."

"You mean," asked Mr. Dodson, "that you didn't intend to tell anyone about all this?"

"No, sir. When folks gets mad, they liable kill somebody 'thout meanin' to. Mr. Bill wouldn't harm nobody in his right mind. And Miss Maggie could be right worrisome sometimes."

"How do you mean worrisome?" asked Lieutenant Gregory quickly.

Andrew scratched his head. "Just worrisome," he repeated, "like old folks is sometimes. Miss Maggie, she talk about family trees all the time and she want everybody to look after her."

"Not quite grounds for murder, you will agree, Lieutenant," said Bill.

"Any more questions, Coroner?" the officer asked. "All right, you can go, Andrew. But stay within call."

"Oh, Mr. Bill," Andrew begged from the doorway, "please don't think hard of me. They could have done me over red-hot coals."

"That's all right, Andrew," Bill interrupted. "I know."

Interruption

"YOU can easily see Andrew's point," said Mr. Dodson when the door had closed. "Andrew can understand violence when it is not the premeditated variety. After all, the white race has had thousands of years of the discipline of civilization and law and order. A hundred years ago Andrew's ancestors were savages or slaves. That's why the South has such a high homicide rating. I doesn't indicate that we are any more vicious than other sections, but only that many of our citizens are still more or less children so far as morals are concerned. Their acts are largely governed by their emotions."

Lieutenant Gregory cleared his throat. Evidently he had heard all this before. "I'm afraid we had better be getting on," he said. "So we should," Mr. Dodson agreed, "but it is a subject that interests me deeply. Pardon my digression, Lieutenant."

"I should like to ask Mr. Stuart," Lieutenant Gregory resumed, "what paper was burned in the right-hand fireplace in the room where Mrs. Ambler was taken after her death?"

"Paper?" Bill and I echoed together.

"Yes. One of my men found the ashes and a scrap of the unburned paper there this morning."

"I have no idea," said Bill, "unless what?"

"Sally, do you think it could have been the clue to the secret room?" Bill asked.

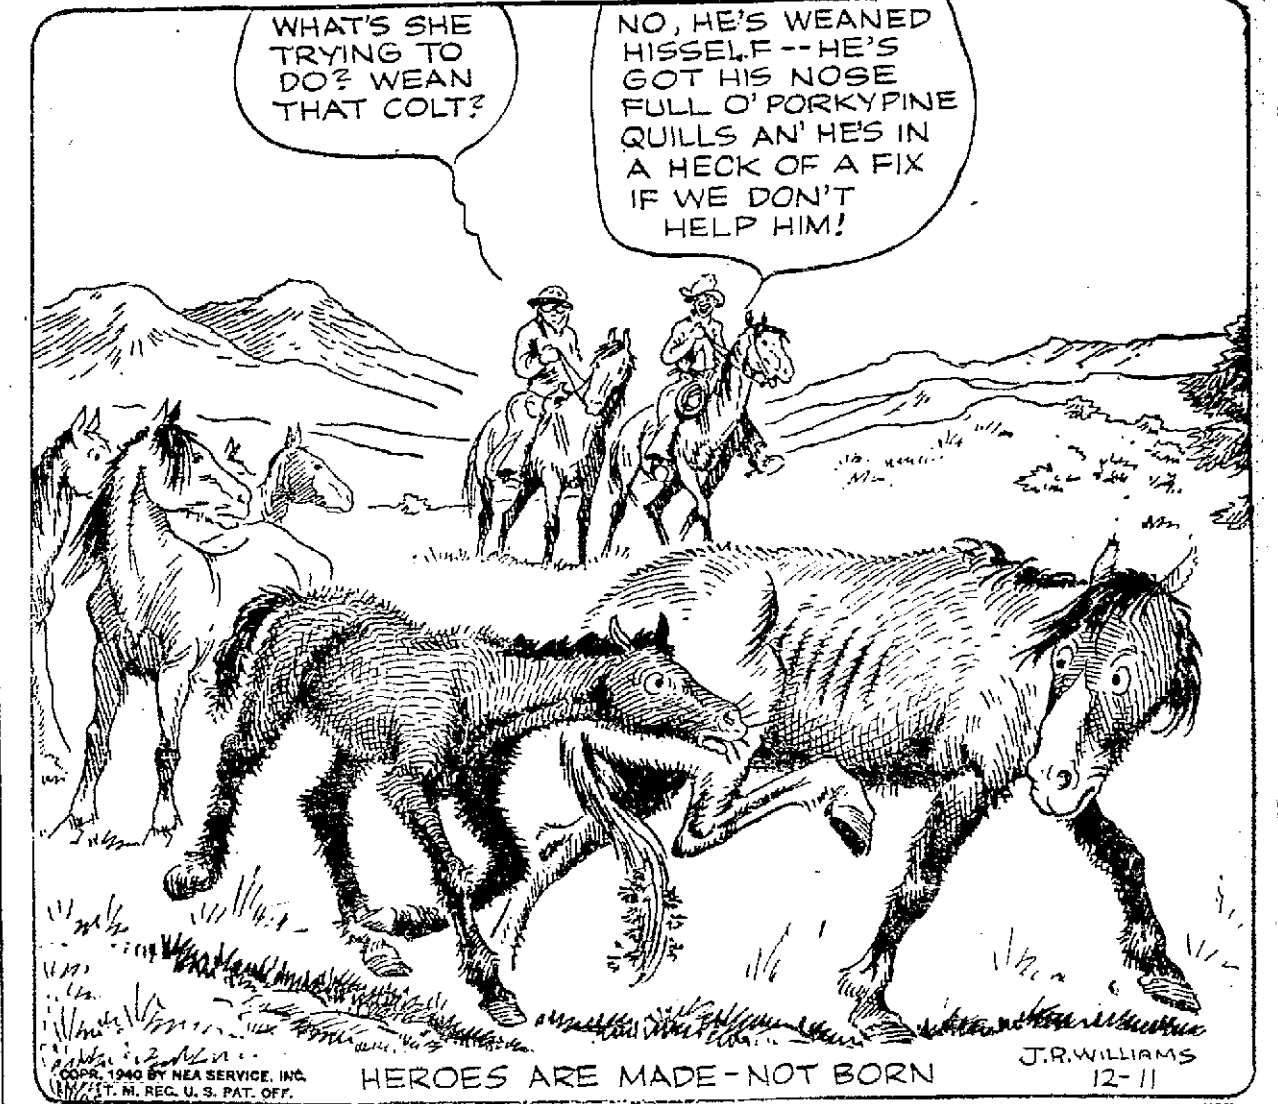

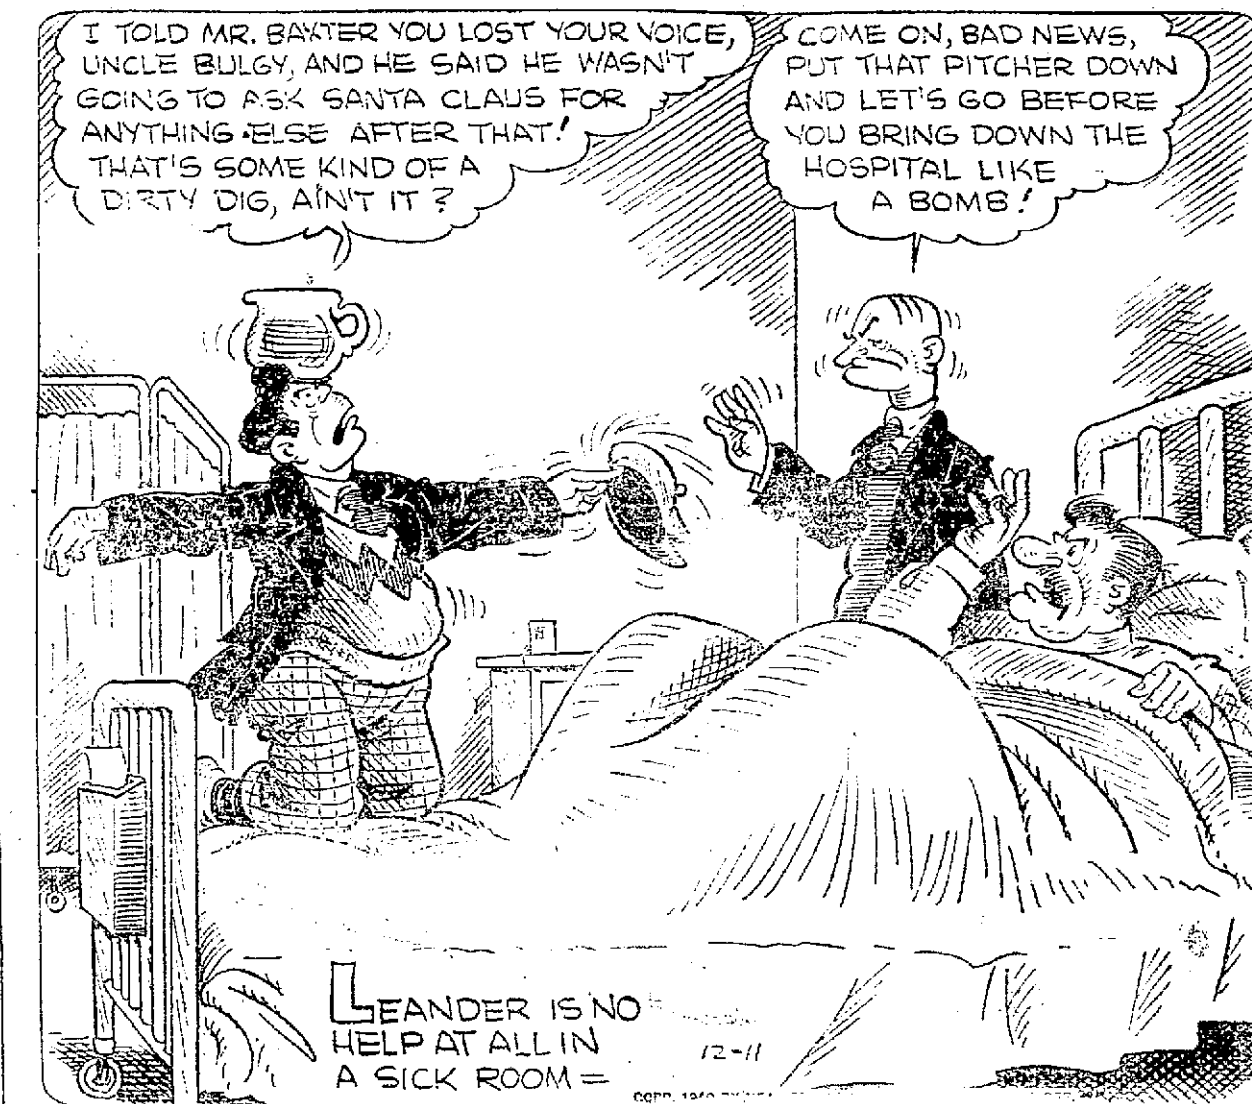

"May I see the scrap that was left?" I requested Lieutenant Gregory.

"Here it is," he said, pointing to the desk.

VISITING NURSE HAS BUSY TIME IN PAST MONTH

Seventeen new cases and a like number carried over from the preceding month brought the total cases cared for by the Visiting Nursing Association in November to 34, in which chronic medical led the list with 23. Others were typed as follows: Acute medical six, surgical and medical one, newborn two, and sunshine lamp treatments one.

The nurse paid a total of 157 visits, had 45 office and telephone calls and gave eleven sunshine lamp treatments. Social service and welfare visits totaled 11, with five maternity calls, one night call and one on Sunday.

Besides assisting at three child health clinics, she attended one healing art meeting. At the clinics there were five new babies and one new pre-school child, with 33 babies returning and 12 older children. Toxoid treatment was given to three children and the nurse paid four child welfare visits.

It was also reported at the monthly meeting, when the nurse's report was submitted, that during the month the association had received $26 articles of clothing from the Needlework Guild, plus a baby bonnet. A wheel chair was also given for the use of the association's patients.

Ludlow

Ludlow, Dec. 10—The regular Luther League meeting was held Friday evening in the Moriah Lutheran church. Scripture was read by the president and prayer by Rev. C. E. Lundgren. It was decided to hold the Luther League Thursday evening instead of Friday due to the basket ball season.

The following program was presented: Piano duet, "No Surrender," Grace Hildebrand and Lucille Bair; reading, "When I Came To Christ," Marjorie Morgan; vocal solo, "Love Lights The Way," composed by the blind musician, Clair Hobart. Mrs. Emil Nelson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Walter Cox; reading, "Burial of Moses," Marianna Leply; song, congregation; reading, "Joy," Florence Mattison; piano solo, Virgil Nelson; announcements, Rev. Lundgren.

Members on the committee were: Dorothy Mae Anderson, Emily Nelson, Kenneth Johnson and Reynold Nelson.

Hunters staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bires during hunting are: Paul Buck, Joseph Chakey, Michael Benedict, Frank Geblish, Norman Green, of Duquesne, Kenneth Dusko and Harold Dusko, of Glassmore.

READING CLUB IS BOUGHT BY DODGERS

Reading, Pa., Dec. 11.—(P)—Reading's Chicks, now a Brooklyn farm, will go into the Interstate Baseball League next year under a non-playing manager to be named by Larry MacPhail, Dodger president.

The Dodgers completed purchase yesterday of the club from J. R. Eddington, Federalburg, Md., who operated it independent last season.

A Reading man probably will be named club president and the Chicks are expected to train with Dunham of the Piedmont League, in South Carolina.

Jerry Giegener, of this city, is outfielder for the Reading team and expects to rejoin the team in the spring.

"I'm giving notice, sir—I know where I can get a better position."

Dragon Cagers Open Season By Trampling Youngsville High

Local Basketeers In 36-16 Rout Of Eagle Quint; Seconds On Top

As a basketball game it was considered sub-par, but as a laboratory in which Coach "Heinie" Kolpien could work on a combination of defense and offense, the "A" court title last night's basketball clash between the Dragons and the Eagles was an undisputed success.

Warren High, incidentally, tripped the Red and White cagers, 35 to 16.

Of the veterans, only "Jap" Conroy was outstanding; the sharp-shooting forward counting a half dozen times from the field and twice from the free throw line to lead the scoring. Close behind came one of the rookies who showed the most promise, "Johnny" Pick, who rung up eight points, and two holdovers, Gail Templeton and "Dick" Tucker, who accounted for six points apiece.

Bob Hansen, towering center, contributed the other two points. Coach Kolpien constantly changed his lineup to give every one of his outstanding candidates an opportunity to display his wares.

Meanwhile the charges of Coach Beck, showing some nice pass-work, sparked by the stellar performance of Captain Stephenson, who nailed ten of the Eagles sixteen points.

From the fans' standpoint, the preliminary was the more attractive, for among the reserves appeared a number of lads ready for the big time. Don Sharp, "Chuck" Hoffecker, Allen Buerkle and others went to town for the jayvees, the first two breaking into the varsity lineup.

The Seconds capped the curtain-raiser, 47 to 17.

JAMESTOWN COURT FIVE DOWNS OWLS

Coach Bruce's Bradford Owls dropped their second straight tilt of the season last night when they lost a 34-17 decision to Jamestown High at Jamestown.

Bradford scored but five field goals, Barry and Poling each collecting two and Moffatt the other. Present Biggott and Perkins paced the Taftmen.

Carl Peterson and "Bill" Gaughn contributed to the entertainment with specialty whistling and vocal numbers, which were received with rounds of applause.

Others on the committee with Father Diamond were George Sarvis, Fred Weigel, Pete Ostergard, A. A. Albaugh and Allen Todd.

Ready for the Bell

SPORT SPATTERINGS

Still listing a little because of that swell venison dished up by the Elks last evening, we're inspecting the financial statement of the 1940 Red Jackets and find many items which should be of general interest to the sport-loving public which makes semi-pro football possible. Last night the scarlet-clad warriors received their proportionate shares of a player out amounting to $1,234.15—a very nifty sum to be dumped into the coffers of local retail establishments, bank accounts, etc., just before the Christmas holidays. In addition to this amount, the Jacket management distributed $3,275.64 elsewhere—in guarantees, extra employees, equipment (purchased locally), players' expenses, etc., and $407.27 to Uncle Sam's internal revenue department.

Paid admissions to the eight home games totaled 5,308 adults and 1,462 students, who paid well over $4,000 to see the boys perform. It is interesting also to note the "gates" of the various games. After the Jackets trampled Homewood and Springdale in the opening pair of clashes, the local fans evidently thought the opposition wasn't tough enough and stayed away from the Millvale Amici Club contest in droves, the "take" on the Amici game being an even $200 under the Homewood fray. Trafford appealed a little more to the fans' fancy and $100 more than the previous Sunday was realized, but many followers missed one of the best games of the year. McKeesport Olympics attracted a crowd which paid $653.55, or about $80 more than Trafford, and the Tonawanda game pulled a crowd which kicked in $700. Beaver Valley's Giants drew a gate of about $500 and Jamestown's Ariels attracted customers who paid $475.

With the Akron guarantee and $58.10 remaining in the old Warren Athletic Association account, the total income was $4,847.13, and we believe you'll be interested to see where the dough went:

Guarantees (8 games)	$1,665.27

Total	$4,847.13

Besides thanking the players for providing some fine football, we believe the fans of Warren and this vicinity also owe a lot to Business Manager Claude Schindler, who handled a tough assignment very capably; to the Marconi Club, which spent a lot of dough to provide the team with fine dressing-room facilities, and, of course, to Pete Fanartitis, without whose initiative and cash outlay there would have been no Red Jackets. It is impossible to list all those who helped give Warren another season of gridiron fare of the highest type, but most of us realize how much they have done and are not likely to forget them.

YEARS AGO IN SPORT
December 11, 1920—The years come and go and with them new heroes of sport. This year there have been many heroic deeds done on the gridiron, but probably none stands out with greater clarity than those performed by George Gipp, the great super-halfback of Notre Dame.

December 11, 1930—The Merchant Five took it on the chin last night at the Y. M. C. A., losing to the Dunkirk Braun Service Station quint 27-25, after leading for three periods. Larry Amy counted nine points and Harry Lord six to lead the local scoring.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Dec. 11.—Chatter chatter: Alice Marble has been beating the men players regularly as she drills for her pro debut. Tommy Harmon's dad says he will advise Tom to cash in on the football, but for two years he's been the reason the Dodgers were so keen for Lew Riggins, who they fear Cookie Lavagetto, who has a low number, may be drafted. Pete Scalo, the featherweight champ, is one of the Los Angeles victims. Ray Kink, Penn. center, is going to have his face lifted, or something. At present the surgeons are going to work on that famed pug snout.

Prosperity Note
The New York football Yankees lost 30 grand last season, just $10,000 less than they figured on dropping. Phil Troy, popular secretary of the Boston Red Sox, is on the mend after an operation. Tom Deegan, Fordham's publicity man, is off for Dallas to help steam up the Cotton Bowl game. Nebraska is having trouble deciding the same question that bothered Tennessee last year—whether to take the band to the Rose Bowl. Here's a vote for the band. Fred Apostoli is quitting the ring (it's official this time) to go into the Seattle jewelry business.

Shaughnessy System
Last season, Shaughnessy played to 110,000 addicts. This year they drew 211,000. The difference in cash is around $150,000—which doesn't include the $100,000 the Indians will get from the Rose Bowl. . . . which gives you an idea of what Mr. Clark Shaughnessy has been worth out there.

Let's Go
With Gabby Hartnett in the fold, The Giants should forthwith spend more gold. To bolster other spots, For it's a cinch the team can't win if it depends on such old men.

Commissioner Landis Unanimously Elected; Klem Will Boss Umps

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(P)—Two of the most dominant and picturesque figures in baseball, shaggy-haired Kenesaw Mountain Landis and heavy-jowled Bill Klem, came to mile-posts in their long careers today.

For Landis, commissioner of the sport since 1921, the day meant the beginning of another period of service to the national pastime. The American and National leagues, as they entered their joint session to wind up their annual winter meetings, were unanimously in support of another term for the 74-year-old commissioner.

For Klem, an umpire in the National League since 1905, it meant the start of a new job. The 65-year-old umpire, who always said he "never missed one in my life," was promoted to the post of supervisor of the circuit's umpires. Klem replaces Ernie Guigley, who will enter the league's public relations department, but the veteran umpire probably will be behind the plate or on the baselines on special occasions. To fill the vacancy in the regular umpires' ranks, the league picked Jocko Conlan, former Chicago White Sox outfielder.

Ford Frick was re-elected president of the National League for four years. Both leagues agreed yesterday to extend Landis' term four years, to January 12, 1946.

The commissioner's salary is a yearly salary of $65,000.

The date of the annual all-star game was fixed as July 8. It will be played at Detroit, with the American League squad being managed by Del Baker, pilot of the Tigers, and the senior circuit team being handled by Bill McKechnie, manager of Cincinnati's world championship Reds.

The American League season will open April 14 with a single game, New York at Washington. All clubs are scheduled for action the following day, with the season closing September 28.

NINE FROM STATE IN PRO GRID DRAFT

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—(P)—Four members of the Associated Press 1940 All-Pennsylvania eleven were among the nine players from state colleges drafted yesterday at the National League meeting in Washington.

The Detroit Lions chose Alex Schibanoff of Franklin and Marshall and Perry Scott of Muhlenberg, Linemen.

Frank Reagan, Penn's great back, was drafted by the New York Giants, while the Philadelphia Eagles took Penn State's blocking quarterback, Johnny Patrick. George Kracum, Pitt fullback; Tom Vargo, end, and Frank Blatt, tackle of Penn State, were picked by the Chicago Cardinals.

Brooklyn's Dodgers drafted Ray Frick, Penn's center; and Chuck Peters, Penn State back, went to the Giants.

BOWSER SEES GOOD YEAR FOR PANTHERS

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P)—Despite Pitt's tough football schedule next year, Coach Charley Bowser predicts his Golden Panthers will "perform creditably."

Bowser, speaking at a banquet tendered the gridironers by lettermen of the university last night, also praised the "spirit and energy" of the team this season. Other speakers included Judge John P. Egan of common pleas court and Red Friesell, noted football official.

Decision On Loans Deferred

ing of key administration officials yesterday by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

Sir Frederick worked over the weekend preparing a balance sheet of British resources and war costs, and the belief was that he turned it over to Morgenthau during their two-hour conference Monday.

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—Jesse H. Jones, federal lending administrator, today announced loans of $60,000,000 to Argentina and $7,500,000 to Uruguay.

Both loans, Jones said, superseded smaller commitments made earlier this year, but unused to date. Argentina previously had received a $20,000,000 credit and Uruguay a $4,000,000 credit, but those two credits were "wiped out" by the new transaction, Jones said.

The new loans, he explained, will be used for general purchases of merchandise in the United States.

The Argentine loan also would be in addition to a $50,000,000 currency stabilization credit, which Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said recently was being considered by the stabilization fund.

Columbus, O., Dec. 11.—(P)—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) urged today that the United States consider war loans to Canada before discussing such loans to Great Britain. "Canada is more likely to pay back the money," he said.

Britain's Food Situation Grim Minister Says

Straboli declared that the situation was "serious" but not "desperate," owing to "a large accumulation of stores and because of heavy cargoes which have come through unscathed."

Lord Templemore took a somewhat different tack.

"Nobody will deny that losses of shipping since the downfall of France have been serious," he said before the house went into secret session, presumably for further examination of the shipping position and defense against submarine, surface and air raiders.

"If our officers find the Italian morale bad and the troops not fighting—and this seems true from early reports—there is little reason why the offensive can't continue on an even larger scale," they said.

The Italians reported "bottled up" by the British were described as hemmed within a triangle formed by the towns of Sidi Barrani, thence 15 miles east along the Mediterranean Sea coast to Maktila then 15 miles south to Nibswa.

Credit for the spectacular 75-mile dash the Italian lines of communication behind Sidi Barrani was given to 59-year-old Lieut. Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, the first man in the British army to command a completely mechanized unit.

Reports from Cairo indicated the British, strongly established on Mediterranean coast west of Sidi Barrani, were facing a possible head-on collision with the main body of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's north African forces attempting to rescue the trapped Italian troops.

The dead: I. M. Hockenberry, 24, and Richard J. Goddard, 23, Millintown R. D. 1, lived only the day before; Benjamin Richards, 40, negro, Harrisburg; and Allen G. Snyder, 20, Pottsville, Pa. All except Richards were married.

They were following a digging machine last night, cleaning out loose dirt in a six-foot trench for sewer and water pipes. A huge section of shale caved in, pinning them against the opposite side. All were dead when comrades extricated them within a short time.

On Monday 16 others were hurt when a rope and scaffolding on a wooden hospital building under construction collapsed.

Commenting on that only a few hours before the fatal mishap, Major William L. Kay, construction engineer of the quartermaster corps, said he was "more worried" about accidents in the "deep ditches" than on the construction of the 700 buildings to house the 20,000 guardsmen.

Inquiries into the fatalities were ordered by both C. R. Carter, project manager, and by Dr. John D. Boger, Lebanon county coroner. Boger said suffocation and internal injuries caused death.

Carter asserted the shallow trench had not been considered especially dangerous. Some of the ditches go down 18 feet.

J. H. Marshall, general superintendent of construction, termed the accident "unfortunate" and added: "These things will happen."

Apparently, he said, one man was caught as he raised a pick because the thick end of the pick was sticking out of the ground after the trench collapsed.

All four victims were removed from the trench about an hour and a quarter after the tragedy.

Over 6,000 Italians Captured

dist armed forces have sunk 37 British warships and 33 merchant ships up to Dec. 10.

In addition, these quarters said, 56 British warships and 41 merchantmen were damaged, compared with a loss of 23 Italian naval craft and four damaged.

In Berlin, authorized Nazis commented that the British "exaggerate mere episodes into tragedies" and that "the Axis course remains absolutely unflinched by these episodes."

London military circles, while cautioning against over-optimism, said the initial phase of the Egyptian campaign opened a wide field of activities.

"If our officers find the Italian morale bad and the troops not fighting—and this seems true from early reports—there is little reason why the offensive can't continue on an even larger scale," they said.

The Italians reported "bottled up" by the British were described as hemmed within a triangle formed by the towns of Sidi Barrani, thence 15 miles east along the Mediterranean Sea coast to Maktila then 15 miles south to Nibswa.

Credit for the spectacular 75-mile dash the Italian lines of communication behind Sidi Barrani was given to 59-year-old Lieut. Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, the first man in the British army to command a completely mechanized unit.

Reports from Cairo indicated the British, strongly established on Mediterranean coast west of Sidi Barrani, were facing a possible head-on collision with the main body of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's north African forces attempting to rescue the trapped Italian troops.

HOOVER PLAN TO FEED HUNGRY IN EUROPE REFUSED

Tentative Arrangements of Former President and Others for Shipping Food Stuffs to Inhabitants of Nazi-Vanquished Nations Rejected

ENGLAND IS OPPOSED

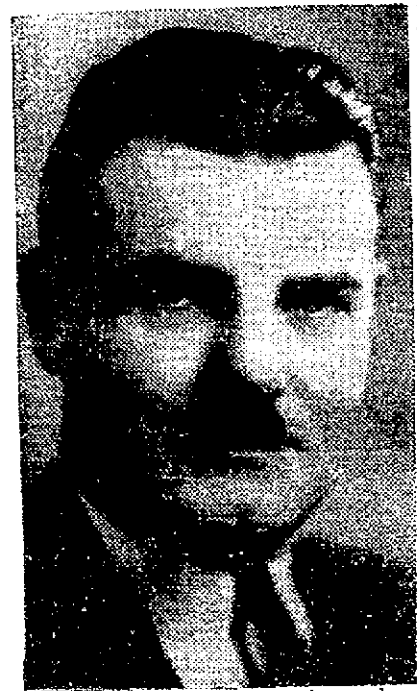

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—Britain ruled out American aid for Europe's hungry this morning, reiterating that the responsibility for feeding conquered countries rested with Germany.

A plainly worded statement issued by Lord Lothian, British ambassador, late yesterday apparently dashed the tentative plans of former President Herbert Hoover and others for shipping food stuffs to the inhabitants of Nazi-vanquished nations.

"Great Britain, he said, will not permit such shipments to pass the blockade."

"Under present conditions," said Lothian, "any such scheme must be of material assistance to Germany's war effort and would therefore postpone the day of liberation of these peoples from German subjug

Entertainment By Internationally Famous Mentalist This Evening at Eight

most perplexing personality on the platform today. Frequently he is re-booked immediately after his first performance.

Dr. Polgar, as the world's ranking hypnotist, mental telepathist and exponent of memory feats, has no peer. He reads the list and as such is the demand all over the country.

If you've never been astounded and amazed before in your life, you will be tonight.

You'll see the genius hypnotize men and women before your eyes. You'll see him lay bare the minds of those before him. You'll see feats of memory that you never thought possible. You'll see a man who has taken two continents by storm, perplexed the greatest scientists in this country and Europe and has been acclaimed by press and radio everywhere.

And all for 75 cents.
Here's a chance to see something different—not a magician, not a sleight-of-hand performer, but a gentleman who'll put on a demonstration never before seen outside the larger cities of the country.

His performance is educational and, above everything else, entertaining. The Times-Mirror doesn't hesitate to say that those who see Polgar's demonstrations tonight will acclaim the performance as the greatest show ever presented here.

Entire proceeds above actual expenses will be for the benefit of the Times-Mirror Santa Claus Fund. At present the fund is considerably short of the amount required to carry on the work which is done each year to bring Christmas cheer into the lives of many of the county's less fortunate persons. A large crowd tonight will help carry on this work.

Plan now to be among those present. If you belong to a bridge club or other group which meets tonight, plan to attend the performance. It will be something different—and inexpensive.

Those who have not purchased their tickets in advance may obtain them at the door this evening.
